

Pete Stracke

Mr. Stracke started in the Offshore Oil & Gas Industry in 1980 as a Designer for Hughes Offshore in Torrance, California.

He moved to Houston in 1985 where he worked for Hughes Offshore, then Vetco Gray, as a Project Engineer specializing in subsea production equipment.

In 1990 Mr. Stracke joined Oceaneering International and was the Manager of Subsea Field Development.

He joined Spinnaker Exploration in 2001 as the Field Development Manager. Most recently, he has served on the Independence Project's Integrated Project Team as the Subsea Project Manager and is currently with StatoilHydro as their Asset Manager for Independence and other deepwater developments.